CARTE POSTALE.

Canterbury. St. John's Hospital. In Northgate Street was the ancient Priory of St. Gregory, "whose name stands at the opening of Christian Europe" and whose love of the English [non Angli sed Angeli] sent Augustine to convert them in 597. The Priory and the Hospital were founded by Archbishop Lanfranc in 1084. The old gateway shown in the view is the most interesting part left.

Dear Will

Just a line to say I arrived back fairly early
after a very enjoyable week-end. Hope you will have a nice time & good weather. Love Phyllis
